Since the effectiveness of CHALICE units in the event of an EWP type situation is dependent to a large extent on keeping contractor personnel on the job, [redacted] suggested the possibility of adding a hazardous duty increment to the supplier contracts. The matter was tabled pending a check with USAF and USAFE to see what they planned to do under similar circumstances with their tech reps.

Mr. Bissell asked that the whole question of our financially supporting the refurbishment of [REDACTED] be re-examined. There were some questions raised as to the necessity for contributing $40-50,000 for improvements at [REDACTED] when it appeared that it might not be used in the foreseeable future except on a post-strike basis. Mr. Bissell asked [REDACTED] to coordinate the re-examination of the utilization of [REDACTED]

5. Staging - There was a discussion of the items raised in [REDACTED] report [REDACTED] 0690, dated 10 September 1958) concerning [REDACTED] staging. Major points covered were as follows:

a. That prior preparations and surveys are well worth the effort. (In this connection there was some discussion of designating an EWP base for Detachment C and it was decided to raise this question at the upcoming meeting with the Air Force on the EWP operations plan.)

b. That JP-1 or JP-5 fuel is acceptable for low level U-2 flights. (This was Headquarters decision in denying Detachment C suggestion that JP-4 be used for such flights.)

c. That the deception plan as suggested by [REDACTED] and agreed to by Headquarters would continue to be used.

6. New Trailers for Detachment B - [REDACTED] stated that the covert procurement of new trailers for Detachment B was stalled out for unknown reasons, but that he was keeping the needle in the Logistics office.

7. Proposals for Other Operational Uses of U-2 -

a. [REDACTED] discussed a proposal for a missile telemetry system to be carried by the U-2. A question was raised as to whether or not enough advance notice of missile
